The Ideas Distillery

Why should you consider ISOs?

The core business of The Ideas Distillery is improving organisations. As we've done this over the years, it's become obvious that company accreditations can open a whole host of doors that would otherwise be closed.

For example, for many years now, both central and local government have stipulated quality management systems in their tenders. ISO 9001 is an internationally recognised standard, with certification ensuring organisations meet a high level of quality. By asking for ISO 9001 from contractors, the public sector can prove it is spending tax payers money wisely, whilst not having to waste time checking an organisation's credentials. With ISO 9001 certification from an accredited body, the certificate does the talking!

What we offer

We are an experienced consultancy specialising in supporting companies to get externally accredited to ISO standards. Our support includes:

- ✓ ISO 9001 (quality)
- ✓ ISO 14001 (environment)
- ✓ ISO 45001 (formerly OHSAS 18001) (health & safety)
- ✓ ISO 27001 (information management)

For organisations which already hold accreditations, as well as for those installing them for the first time, we operate an online management system which meets all the requirements of the ISO standards so you can create corrective actions for non-conformance, incidents and accidents, record actions, view audits of your internal processes, suppliers and management systems and much, much more.

If you are planning to look for work in the rail sector your company must comply with the standards set out by RISQS, which is managed by RSSB. RISQS is a single common qualification process and supplier database which is then accessed by buyers from Network Rail and over 100 rail organisations, and Ideas Distillery can help you get accredited under the scheme.
